

THE EDIT

Fifteen for the heat

For the season of doors open and surfaces clear.
Grouped the way a hot day is lived — the cool things,
the table by the door, the bed undressed, the evening light. Each is one we'd own; the link earns a small commission, the choice earns your trust.

Buy a layer fewer, not a gadget more. Air is the only thing a hot room truly needs.
