

MATERIAL STUDY

The one warm thing

A room of warm greys needs one object that is unmistakably hand-made — a glaze that pooled where the maker tilted it, a rim that isn't quite round. Fukinsei, the Japanese call it: the rightness of the slightly irregular. It is the difference between a calm room and a showroom. Buy the vase that looks touched.

"The flaw is the proof a hand was here."